NewsCloser Look Seeks EMpower Beta Sites

11/17/2006

Research a company's background before choosing vendors, customers or entering into partnerships. With just a few mouse clicks EMpower™ will help you find information on private and small businesses as well as public companies

Tech Columbus would like to introduce you to an interesting new search engine that will help you find background information and business profiles on companies. The service, called EMpower has been developed using deep web search technology by CloserLook Search Services Inc. CloserLook is offering EMpower on free trial till Jan 31st 2007 to those who register and use the service before December 1st.

Early responses have been very positive and we believe many of you will find EMpower a big help in a number of areas within your business. We are sending you this email on behalf of CloserLook along with the information provided below by CloserLook. We encourage you to try the service during this free trial period.
